Introduction to Ba Zi Ming Li (八字命理/ Four Pillar Analysis)

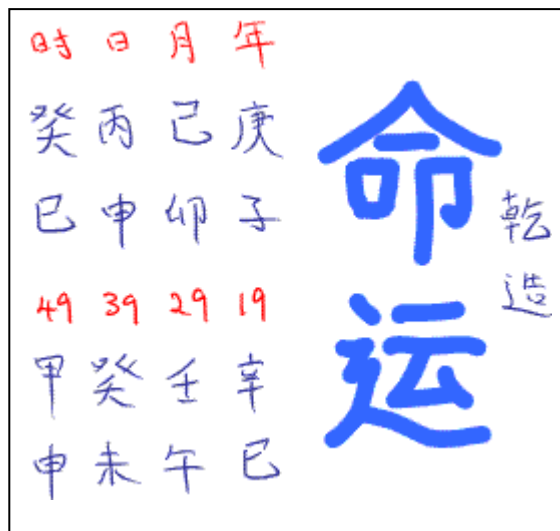

In our last issue, we touched on how to make use of divination knowledge in the correct way and also get to see a sample of a god palm. In this issue, we will take a look at how the Ba Zi Ming Li can help us to make some predictions and how we can make use of this knowledge.

On the right is a sample of a birth chart of a man. Based on the Chinese characters and their built in representations, we can tell that he is a person with a rather strong fire element. Due to the inconsistent energy flow of the fire element, we know that he is usually not a very consistent person when it comes to completing his task. However, between 19-39 years old, this consistency is more or less there, especially between 29-39 year old.

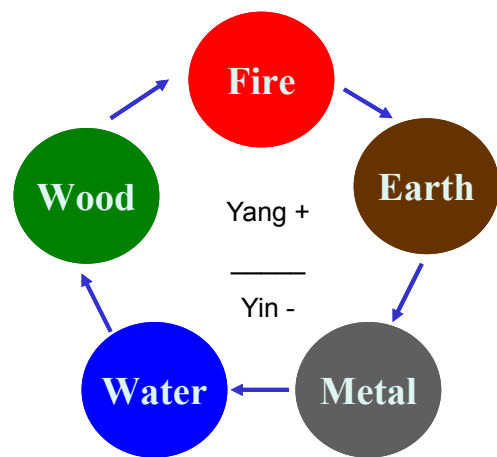

With consistency in performance, this person will be able to do well in his work and get a lot of recognition for his effort. Work wise, he is rather successful and capable of earning high salary for his capability. He is also a very talented person who can pick up new skills and knowledge easily. He is very systematic and detailed in his execution of work, thus he will always be able to solve his problem easily.

On the outlook, we would say that he has a rather good career and things are all doing very well for him. However, when we go deeper into his birth chart, we can see that in his life, his marriage is always a constant source of problem. If he does not know how to choose the correct partner or does not treat his partner well enough, his partner is very likely to leave him for another man. From his chart, we can tell that he would marry a lady who is very friendly, attention seeking and attractive. Therefore when he is too busy with his work (between 39-49 years old, this is the period where his work is doing very well, critical marital problem will arise in 39 & 45 years old); he would tend to neglect his wife. With a wife who requires a lot of his constant attention, he would not be able to keep her company most of the time. Thus, the wife will start to have too much time of her own in hand and start meeting other people to occupy her time. When other man can show her more attention and spend more time with her, she would naturally be easily tempted to start an affair with them.

Some readers would ask, with him working so hard for his work, how can he prevent his wife from having an affair? The truth is that he may not be able to do so easily. However, by knowing in advance that his life is possible to have such problem, he may change his life by selecting a wife with stronger moral values and very firm with their commitment to a relationship. If the situation is such that he has already married a wife that requires a lot of his attention, then he must do some form of adjustment in his schedule and spend more time with his wife, at the same time, he can also encourage his wife to pick up some hobbies that will mix around more with ladies, and less chances of meeting new opposite sex.

When we look at the birth chart of a person, what we are basically trying to do is to determine the energy flow of the Five Elements and the Yin and Yang energies. From there we can tell what the dominant energy is at a certain period. With attributes given to each element and their relationship to each other, we will be able to decode the meanings of the events that can happen. For example, when the fire energy is strong, things will happen in a very fast manner and it starts fast and ends fast. Fire energy will also cause the metal energy to weaken and at times where there is no earth energy to mediate between metal and fire energies, the fire energy would actually cause harm to the metal energy. When we try to go deeper into each element's natural attributes, we will know that when metal energy is being injured, in a person's health, this person will suffer from respiratory problems, or skin problems or even constipation. As for what exact types of health issues, it will depend on the formation of the chart and what type of fire energy is dominant. If this is a chart for a weak water based person, then a dominant fire energy would result in loss of large sum of money and sometimes even legal problems and serious sickness of the lungs.

By knowing the type of events that can come up in our life, we can use these information to plan our life. This is like doing a project for a company, when we know what is the possible outcome of a problem, we would want to be able to plan our resources correctly such that it minimizes our cost and effort. By knowing ourselves well and accepting our own flaws in our character, we can then steer ourselves towards a better personality (just like a temperamental person will have to learn to manage his anger and a stubborn person will have to learn to listen to others advise even if he does not like to listen to them). I always suggest to my clients that all changes of their life will have to start from their heart, not by buying some crystals or accessories and carrying them around. Once we can accept ourselves, then we can initiate a change for the weaknesses in our personality. By working on our internal qualities, then we can effect changes to our external qualities and then we can see the changes in our life. Changes does not take place overnight, it is like growing a mango tree, a lot of the initial effort will not be able to render any significant rewards. After you plant a mango seed, you will need to water it for many days before you start to see a mango plant coming out of the soil. Then it will take a few years of nurturing the plant before you can see it bearing any flowers and finally the fruits.

The same goes with our personality changes. We will need to keep working on what we need to change constantly and it may take months or even years before we really see any significant results. The sad thing to see is that many people are out there always looking for a quick fix to their problems, be it financial, relationship, work or family; they are always hoping that miracles will happen without any direct effort of their own. Creating success in our life is also similar to creating success to a business. There is no overnight successful businesses, even if they do exist, there are only very few in this world. Most businesses become successful overnight only after many months if not years of hard work and planning. So in order to have success in different areas of your life, you will need to know what you really want, and then from there, you can do a measurement of what is your current status. With divination knowledge in your hands, you can know what the possible pitfalls are and choose to take a path that will ensure a safe passage.

In our next issue we will be talking about some Feng Shui tips for your house and offices. These are some basic ideas that can help you to minimise problematic placement of things and ornaments within your house or office.
